Product Description

Doodle Dungeon, board game (DE), for 2-4 players, ages 10+

The dungeon masters agree: Put an end to the agony of constant rent increases by the dungeon rental companies. You need your own dungeon. And as luck would have it, on their last shopping tour in the Fallen Outlet Center, the players were able to secure a splendid specimen at a great bargain price. But on the first visit, the proud new dungeon owners have to find out why their dungeon was a bargain: Where maze-like corridors, traps and monsters should be, there is instead a yawning emptiness. But the hero season is approaching and the treasures want to be defended from the invading hero. So off to the hardware store and off you go with the interior design before the overzealous hero reaches his own dungeon.

In Doodle Dungeon, cards are first drafted in order to create your own dungeons. Whenever a player takes a card, he immediately draws the dungeon elements depicted on it on his map. When each player has taken 14 cards, they all pass their dungeon on to their left neighbor. This now draws a route for the dummy hero and then returns the plan. Each player places the hero figure on his or her starting space and lets it move along the marked path through the dungeon, fight monsters and collect treasures. The cards collected can help in your own dungeon or support the heroes of other players.

With illustrations by Munchkin artist John Kovalic.
