Product Description

Excavation Earth, board game (DE), for 1-4 players, ages 14+

In the 42nd year after the unification, an alien named Eolus Rein made a discovery like they had never seen the free species before: an entire, previously unknown planet littered with the remains of a lost civilization. Soon explorers, traders, and avid shoppers were arriving on the empty planets, competing to assemble the perfect collection of alien artifacts. They soon learned that the inhabitants of this destroyed planet called it earth.

The game group takes on the role of archaeologically interested aliens who dig up, collect, smuggle and auction the remains of humanity to the highest bidders. Excavation Earth has optimized rules that can be understood in 10 minutes. Due to the difficult decisions in each round and the interaction of the game round, it also offers profound gaming fun. This makes the game suitable for newbies, but also offers experienced euro gamers a challenge.
