Product Description

Platform - 196 Components

This magical replica of a train station is reminiscent of the time when the railroad was the most modern means of transport and represented the dawn of a new era. The model is the perfect stopping point for that various steam locomotives by Ugears. However, it can also be placed decoratively on a shelf or on a sideboard.

A staircase leads to the platform on both sides. This is provided with the characteristic roof construction and has a clock and two lanterns. Benches and filigree railings complete the creation. In addition to the many decorations, the pattern on the bottom of the model is also very appealing. Some Ugears models can be opened so that you can store something inside. In this replica there is a drawer that opens with the help of a key as if by magic. This is another example of sophisticated mechanics. The lock for the drawer is hidden under the benches. The model has a considerable size to match the locomotives.

Warning! Not for children under 3 years.
