Product Description

Carousel - 305 Components

The fact that a wooden carousel per se is associated with the veneer of happy holidays is due to the tradition of craftsmanship, which helped this gem to world fame. Rather, it is the Ringelreigen, which brings enthusiasm storms to every child at every fair, Christmas market or folk festival and thus should not be missing at any of these markets. However, the UGEARS(R) Carousel kit is by no means intended only for children, but appeals specifically to the model-building public who are enthusiastic about technology.

In this context, we could rather speak of a work of art that revives old childhood dreams when assembled by hand. The dynamics inherent in the rotary motion of a rotor rod is the storm of enthusiasm in creativity that the work benefits from the semi-open design. This so-called steampunk style is rather the epitome of postmodernism, in which ancient knowledge merges with future perspectives. Here the old story of the carousel, that in all likelihood was invented in the Ottoman Empire, is reinterpreted. Thus, the brand UGEARS(R) as a manufacturer of mechanical models sets accents through wooden models, which actually resemble a high-quality still life. Thus, in addition to the artful expression, every movement can be precisely tracked.

Warning! Not for children under 3 years.
