Product Description

Total Normal - board game (DE), for 2-6 players, ages 18+

Do you believe in the existence of extraterrestrials? " or Have you ever got a love letter written? " or Have you ever fell asleep at work? " : Total normal's questions are tough - and so are the answers! Because this entertaining game is not just about personal experiences and experiences that should be responded to truthfully. Likewise, the other players have to be assessed and their answers have to be guessed. Depending on how well the players know each other, it can be quite difficult at times. Last but not least, the two to six players also decide what percentage of the German-speaking population answer the respective question with yes - surprising results are guaranteed! The funny question game is designed for players aged 18 and over and is based on publicly available statistics and intensive internet research in German-speaking countries. While some answers can still be discovered with a little thought and logical conclusions, there are always results that no one expected.
