Product Description

The Almanac: Free Role Play Day 2021, (DE edition)

On March 27th, the free role play day will take place for the ninth time. There have been many developments in the role-playing game industry over the past year, most notably the growth of digital gaming. The free role-play day will also take place digitally this year and still stick to its goal: to strengthen and connect the role-playing industry and to arouse public interest.

This year, more publishers and other players in the RPG industry have joined forces than ever before to make it possible to compile a diverse almanac for newbies and veterans alike. That is why this volume contains a diverse mix of system-neutral material as well as adventures and other playing aids for a wide range of systems.

The Almanac 2021 contains contributions from the following providers:

- Dungeonfog
- Fallen World
- Midgard
- New Hong Kong Story
- OrkenspalterTV
- Pegasus games
- Editorial team Phantastik
- System Matters
- Uhrwerk Verlag
- Magic feather

Warning! Not suitable for children under 36 months.
