Product Description

Rick and Morty: 100 days - Card game, for 2-4 players, from 16 Years (DE Edition)

The multidimensional adventure for sci-fi fans!

There you are, Morty. Listen. I have to get something in another dimension. I need a helping hand. Listen, Morty, I need your help. I mean, we have to get out of here and deal with this now. It's important!

So watch out, this is an analog simulation, i.e. board game version, of our adventure.

2 to 4 players, ages 16+, travel in Oscar Arévalo's Rick & Morty: 100 days of the multiverse and collect not entirely legal resources to become the smartest Rick of them all! You control your own duo and secretly decide in which dimensions the two should travel - each dimension has its own advantages and collectible resources. However, you will have to share with your fellow players if they are traveling in the same dimension as you ...

But a real Rick always has an ace up his sleeve: Play cards to get the support of characters like Bird Man and Jessica, or to get items like Broken Leg Serum or a human shield. In this way you bring places like the pawnshop planet or the anatomy park into play, trigger special effects or react to the actions of your opponents!

Wubba lubba dub dub!
