Product Description

The "Not Safe for Work" edition of the party game Poetry for Neanderthals is adult word fun - with the typical dirty humour of an NSFW edition from Exploding Kittens. In two teams, you must explain delightfully raunchy terms to each other, using only one-syllable words. It's fun to make granny guess terms like "meat whip" or "thong", but be careful: if you use words with more than one syllable, the other team gets to (gently) spank you with the inflatable spanking club. But then again ... is that really so bad? As a team, guess the most poetically delivered words before time runs out to send your opponents back to their damp caves!

Warning: not suitable for children under 36 months!
