Product Description

In Sides, you must choose each spoken word carefully and analyse it in depth to grasp all its meanings.

Two adjacent players are the investigators. As the investigator, you choose a random word to guess. The other players are the witnesses who have to give one-word clues. But beware! Each clue must start with one of the two letters at the ends of a row of 7 letter cards on the table. After each clue, the investigators suggest an answer. Is it the right one? Congratulations, you get a point! The fewer clues given, the more words the team can guess and the higher your score.

Get your heads spinning and marvel at the connections made by the clues and words suggested.

With over 800 words, no two games are the same, but one thing is for sure: every word counts in Sides!
