Product Description

The floor model is a replica of the Honda NSR500, which was a new development by the Honda team that won the championship with the Honda NS500 in 1983. Compared to its predecessor, the Honda NSR500 had a more powerful V4 engine. The motorbike also featured an aluminium frame for the engine and a radical layout with the expansion chambers and fuel tank positioned above and below the engine respectively. The 1984 season was challenging, but the following season the Honda NSR500 performed superbly to win the championship. Caution! Not suitable for children under 3 years. Choking hazard due to small parts.
