Product Description

Fire Brigade Ladder - 537 Components

The new fire truck from UGEARS(R) is a childhood dream on four wheels. At the same time, the utility vehicle model, made of wood, is by no means to be considered as such and convinces with precise craftsmanship and true-to-scale finesses. These are not true to the original and are rather based on the technology and mechanics that come to light, which are highlighted in the models of the brand manufacturer for illustration.

Following the steampunk, a style of retrofuturism that evolved from cyberpunk, the models of UGEARS(R) are made in an open design, which accordingly looks openwork. Consequently, the characteristic style element on the fire truck "UGM 11 LKW" is the extendable turntable ladder as well as its implementation by gear transmission as well as hydraulics and rollers. The learning character of the demonstration model is extended by a rubber band drive, which allows clear gear ratios. The "UGM 11 truck" can be converted into a crane by means of an enclosed hook. However, due to its style-defining character, the entire object should rather be understood as a 537-part work of art, the aim of which is to depict a technical still life. Accordingly, the vehicle is an enriching showpiece in the display case of any fire station.

Warning! Not for children under 3 years.
