Product Description

Kang-a-Roo - Board game, for 3-6 players, from 6 years

Anyone who has caught a kangaroo in the Australian outback may be reluctant to release it again: after all, the jumping and boxing marsupials promise a lot of fun. So it's no wonder that every player tries to defend his captured animals with vehemence.

At the start of the game, all eleven different colored kangaroos hop around in the wild in the middle of the table. With cards of the same color and a bit of luck, you succeed in catching the colorful hops. But be careful: kangaroos that have already been collected can be snatched up again right under your nose. Therefore, it is important to defend them until the very end, because the winner is the one who has hunted most successfully and caught the most kangaroos.
