Product Description

Dwarf dice set white & black (7 pieces)

A set of the rarest and most beautiful artefacts left by Quentin the Inventor. They were polished by a mythical dwarven blacksmith, which is why they still have their original white colour. These dice are filled with dwarven features. Let them roll! Dice readable like never before!

Dwarves are usually associated with stocky, bearded people who love gold, beer and juggling hammers. Originally, they come from the Viking sagas. Thanks to the will of the gods, they were created from the tiny bones of the dead giant Ymir, while the rest of his skeleton became the building material of the world we know. They are brothers of the mountains and in reality born from the bones of the earth. Our cubes are made in a similar way. We grind the best Nordic giant bones we have in stock and then melt them down to produce a raw material worthy of the dwarves' craftsmanship. Dwarves are known as the best blacksmiths and jewellers. They also deal with the magic of objects. From their workshops come the greatest treasures and the best weapons in the entire known world of the North. It was they who forged the weapons of the gods, so our dice cannot be ordinary. They must be constantly perfected, just as the dwarves are always searching for the perfect shapes enchanted in metal and stone. This set must be as strong as the bearded people and beautiful in its usefulness as a perfect product of dwarven craftsmanship. We have opted for extensive engraving, with the numbers and weapon symbols more prominent and the delicate 'maze' of lines forming a background. In this way we have obtained dice worthy of the dwarves and their creations.

Each colour combination of our dice is a tribute to one of the works of the dwarves from the sagas. We want your characters, such as Odin, Freya, Thor and others, to have adventures worthy of the skaldic songs. All the Norse gods and heroes used the items forged for them by dwarves. It was the wonders of the dwarves that helped them accomplish their exploits and got them out of even the greatest difficulties. They were their treasures; without them it would have been much more difficult. Our dice have the same goal: to help defeat enemies, bring success and gladden the heart. These are dice for heroes - tough, beautiful and useful in any battle or adventure that may bring a cruel fate under the guidance of the game master.

The white set with black engravings is a set inspired by Freya's necklace Brisingamen. It is just a piece of jewellery, but its shine is more beautiful than the light of the aurora borealis. It can illuminate any darkness and hides the wearer with its brilliance. Thanks to this jewel, Thor, disguised as a woman, was able to recapture Mjöllnir from the giants. Such patronage augurs well for the users of these dice. They will be like the glow of the aurora borealis, allowing you to overcome the darkness.

Caution! Not suitable for children under 36 months.
