These dice are small wonders that bring peace and smile everywhere. Isn't that great?! Many people write to us with questions about dice herding. We are gamers, and we understand that there are many questions about daily dice care. The typical questions are: What can be done better when the dice are cursed or mean and all rolls make you sad? The Llama dice are remarkable example what you should do.

- First: wash your dice regularly. Use the special shampoo for different types of sets. For llama dice you should use a product recommended for fluffy fur with bubblegum scent. Any other can damage the inner joy of all llamas.
- Second: Don't use dull, one colors towel to dry them. Use a colorful, stripped or printed cloth that is made from delicate wool or even silk. The Peruvian blanket will be the best. The better dice care, the better will be the rolls. Everybody knows this.
- Third: Let them rest near you, ideally on a blanket, while you are daydreaming about new games and new quests that make you a hero or savior of worlds.
- Lastly: Smile! Smile a lot! You're playing with friends. You're using a great set. This is the time of relax, time for adventure and excitement. Forget your trouble, carry on and get happy. Roll a handful of merry dice and save the world, defeat evil and collect the bounty! Feel the magic of llamas!
