Product Description

Tails on Fire is an interactive card game in which the ever-changing selection of the best three playing cards for a round leads to a permanent dilemma, creating a unique playing experience. The challenging game with easy-to-learn rules is the smart work of German author Thomas Sellner. Set in a fairy tale of Mexico's indigenous Huichol people, Tails on Fire is a fascinating composition of Mexican art, Huichol history and super cute possums brought to life by Mexican artist Mayra Guadalupe Ornelas Ramos.

Tails on Fire is a permanent playing card hunt for the nearest and hottest fire! Before a round, each player looks at which fire card in which value is to be won in the current display and which fire they might be able to steal from their fellow players. Accordingly, a player then chooses her 3 hand cards with which she wants to play the current round. In the round that follows, the aim is to stay in the game permanently by playing a card with a number increased by one. You can sit out and bluff, but the last player to remain in a round of Tails on Fire takes the fire with the last card played and thus the hot points. But watch out, already in the next round someone could snatch the fire away again if he or she wins a fire with the same card value. Just as the opossum once tricked Iguana, the players in Tails on Fire have to outwit each other. And not just once, but anew in every round - so you have to be clever and unpredictable!
