Product Description

In the year 2050 there is an emergency at the airport!

A passenger plane has been hijacked by unknown kidnappers. The airport has been sealed off and the plane is surrounded by police. It must be ensured as quickly as possible that the passengers are safely evacuated from the plane and the hijackers are persuaded to surrender.

As the negotiator, will you succeed in freeing the passengers before the police storm the plane?

The game is played in different rounds, where players each use two dice to get passenger cards or perform other actions for which they receive points or so-called "demands". The players also build trust so that the hijackers are willing to negotiate with them. The negotiators can work together to free as many passengers as possible, but they can also try to negotiate alone.

- Number: for 1-4 players
