Product Description

During the Battle for Midway game, players have the opportunity to play the commanders of the American or Japanese air fleet and take part in the famous Battle of Midway in 1942, which decided the fate of the war in the Pacific. The game is designed for two players and the playing time depends on the game mode chosen.

A strategy and tactics game with COBI pieces combines strategy, which requires planning, with random elements. The game pieces are mini models of brick-shaped aircraft on special stands. Every player can easily master the extremely simple game rules based on legible symbols. The set includes game box, game board consisting of seven large and two small elements, 12 planes on special stands, action cards, tokens and markers. Players can personalise their planes with the included sticker sheet!

The Battle of Midway game was created thanks to COBI's collaboration with Bored Games, which brings together experts in the field of board games. This guarantees the high quality of the product and the mature and thoroughly tested game mechanics. Perfectly balanced tactical and random elements make the game exciting every time. Players of all ages can easily duel each other! Think of clever strategies or go into the elements and trust your luck! Feel the atmosphere of a World War II battle thanks to the fantastic graphics. Lead your air fleet to victory!

In the box you will find instructions in Polish, English, German and Czech.
