Product Description

The Mustang P-51D is a building block model from the film released under the original TOP GUN: Maverick™ licence. The main character of the film, Maverick, is proud to fly this historic aircraft. You now build your own Mustang in 1:32 model scale. The set has been faithfully reproduced from 350 COBI building blocks. In the set you will find high quality prints that accurately reproduce the original image of the movie plane. The model is equipped with rotating propellers, retractable landing gear, movable wheels and an opening canopy in which you can place our special figure inspired by the main character of the film. It also includes an elegant display stand and a plaque with the name of the aircraft and the film logo. This exclusive licensed kit is sure to make a great gift idea for builders of all ages who are film buffs and enjoy both aviation and military films. It looks perfect in a smart office or teenager's room. The North American P-51 Mustang was an American single-engine fighter during World War II. It was manufactured in the US factories of North American Aviation. It was successfully used in the US Air Force and by its allies during World War II and during the Korean War. The highly successful 1940s design meant that the aircraft remained in service in one or more countries until 1984! Over a period of 46 years, more than 15,000 Mustangs were produced. Today many of these aircraft are in private hands, including our fictional hero Maverick! Mustangs are still used in air shows and air competitions today.
