Product Description

The Panzerkampfwagen II is a German light tank that was used in the early years of the Second World War. Until 1941 it was the main tank in armoured divisions. From 1942 onwards, it lost importance due to the weakness of its armour. It was used for reconnaissance and counter-insurgency missions. About a dozen versions of the PzKpfw II were created. They were used on all fronts until the end of hostilities.

In a completely new scale of 1:48, a miniature vehicle was created from COBI building blocks. The tank includes elements of the environment in the form of blocky vegetation, which are highly sought after by fans of clamp building blocks! The set is easy to build, it is perfect for starting your adventure with Polish COBI bricks. It has a movable cannon, a rotating turret and a working warp traction. All the graphic details are high quality prints that will not wear out even with intensive play. The advantage is the design, which uniquely reproduces the original forms of its historical prototype. The Panzer II tank model is perfect as an introduction to the world of historical models, but also as a unique element of any collection of a fan of military and tank weapons.
