Product Description

The Opel Manta A is a classic that has gone down permanently in the history of the automobile industry. The top variant of the Manta turned out to be the GT/E model introduced in 1974 with a 1.9-litre engine (1897 cm³) and Bosch injection with an output of 105 hp. Manta reached a top speed of 188 km/h. The car could have a manual 4-speed or an automatic 3-speed gearbox. Manta achieved great market success, manifested by the phenomenon of "Manta mania" visible both in the car aftermarket and in mass culture.

Opel Manta A GT/E is another strong item in COBI's automotive line! The technically mature construction kit in large scale 1:12 is 37 cm long and has very high display values. This sports car was released under the original Opel brand licence. The set was designed with 1,938 parts. The model is characterised by the use of a variety of high quality prints! Cobi has completely dispensed with stickers. Especially for the needs of such large sets, new elements were developed to provide additional functionalities. A movable steering wheel with which the wheels can be turned, hinges to open doors, body parts and panels are the basic functions of this model. Under the tilting bonnet is an engine recreated from building blocks. Numerous details such as door handles, lights, clocks create a coherent whole with a perfectly reproduced characteristic body of this vehicle.

The model is perfect for collectors and lovers of classic cars. Clear and intuitive instructions and blocks packed in numbered bags make the building process efficient and satisfying.

Opel is a German manufacturer of passenger cars, sports cars and vans that has made a lasting mark in the history of the automotive industry thanks to many successful models. Now, thanks to COBI building blocks, another automotive legend returns in a unique collector's edition. Build it, brick by brick...
