Product Description

In the Hippo Flipp Junior game, children can practise and improve their number skills. Here, the players let funny wooden vegetable pucks slide towards the hungry hippos waiting for their next meal. The board game for children offers 2 levels of play: In level 1, the children look where the puck has landed and then add up their points. In level 2, it's all about counting and adding up as the players slide their puck twice and then add up the numbers to slide their vegetable marker across the pond the appropriate number of spaces on the board. In level 1, the first person to have 10 vegetable tokens wins. In level 2, the first person to get their vegetable marker across the pond wins. This exciting and fast indoor game for children is easy to learn and helps to practice numbers with great fun. The preschool game is a good choice for children aged 3 years and older, who can practise dealing with numbers in a playful way here.
