Product Description

The floor model is a replica of the Scania 164L Topclass. The Scania 164 was a reference point for heavy commercial vehicles from the last half of the 1990s until the first half of the following decade. It spearheaded the "4 series" and achieved significant commercial success in many countries around the world. The 16-litre engine was able to guarantee power and reliability while minimising operating costs. The 164L "Top Class" was characterised by maximum comfort on board, either under running conditions or during rest and parking periods. The design and development of the vehicle was able to improve active and passive safety. Last but not least, the aerodynamic restyling was able to optimise fuel consumption even at high speed.
