Product Description

Décorum is a cooperative, hidden-information game where you and your partner share the same goal: To decorate your home so that you are both happy. The problem is that each of you is happy with different things and no one says exactly what they need. Can you find a compromise, or is it time to move out?

Basically, Décorum is a pretty simple logic puzzle. There are a small number of ways to arrange the furnishings so that all the requirements listed on the players' rule sheets are met at the same time. The highlight of Décorum is that it is also a game with hidden information. No player knows all the rules. During the game, players must watch their partner's moves as carefully as they plan their own. More crucially, they must communicate - with the very limited resources the game provides - why they are making the moves they are making.

Caution. Not suitable for children under 36 months!

- Age: from 10 years
- Number: for 2-4 players
- Duration: 30-45 minutes
