Product Description

Radau im Bau, the first expansion for Grab dich frei, brings many new options and strategies to the table and pushes the already high replay value to its limits! The central role is played by the prison warden, this non-playable character runs around the board and sends badly behaved inmates to solitary confinement. On the other hand, you can go to her office and bribe her in advance with cigarettes to help her gain an advantage over other inmates later.

This expansion also provides 6 new locations that can be used as alternatives to the existing locations on the board. They change the actions available in each location and offer many more ways to dig your way to freedom. Each of these new locations is optional and independent of each other, so a different and unique prison layout can be built each time you play.

Caution. Not suitable for children under 36 months!

- Age: from 16 years
- Number: for 2-6 players
