Product Description

Scania's S-series is a benchmark in the market for heavy commercial and industrial vehicles designed to meet the demands of logistics and long-haul transport. The new S-series was launched by the famous Scandinavian manufacturer in the second half of the last decade with innovative design solutions. In fact, the new design was developed to optimise the use of space in the cab and increase driver comfort.

Through state-of-the-art control and driver assistance systems, great importance is attached to active and passive safety. In addition, the new, attractive and modern design has also been developed with a view to improving the vehicle's aerodynamics and reducing fuel consumption. The Scania S770 4x2 'Normal Roof' with its compact cab is the ideal solution for many professional and operational needs and complements the 'Highline' extended cab version of the tractor unit from the renowned Scandinavian manufacturer of heavy commercial and industrial vehicles.
