Product Description

The Horch 901 is a military off-road vehicle used by the German armed forces from 1937 to 1945. It was produced in several thousand copies and became a common means of transport in the army. Originally, the car was intended for the transport of staff officers. In the course of time it was used as an ambulance for the transport of wounded, communication vehicles, light artillery tractors, supply transporters and soldiers.

You can build a personal Horch 901 (Kfz. 15) military and off-road vehicle from 185 COBI building blocks. All graphic details are high-quality prints that do not wear out even during intensive play. The advantage is the design that uniquely reflects the original shapes of its historical prototype. The model surprises with new types of blocks that are perfect for building cars and allow further modifications and designing your own structures. A figure of a German driver with binoculars is attached to the detailed vehicle. The whole set is completed by a sign with the name of the vehicle.

The staff car is an ideal element for building scenes and historical dioramas recreating any European front of the Second World War.

The set is a perfect gift idea, regardless of the age of the recipient. It will satisfy adult collectors and motoring enthusiasts as well as children. It's also a great way to start your adventure with Polish COBI building blocks.
