Product Description

The floor model is a replica of the Leopard 2A4. The Leopard 2 entered service between the end of the 1970s and the beginning of the 1980s and is considered one of the best armoured vehicles in the world. It was developed to provide the German "Bundeswehr" with a powerful and modern main battle tank capable of replacing the Leopard 1.

Despite its heavy armour, the Leopard 2 achieves a remarkable speed of 65 km/h and performs well in all types of terrain. The Leopard 2 A4, one of the most widely used versions, uses an advanced fire control system and modern high-tech materials that can increase its protective capability. As a product of Germany, the Leopard 2 has achieved good commercial success in many countries such as Holland, Turkey, Austria, Greece and many others.
