Product Description

The Grumman F4F Wildcat was a World War II US Navy deck fighter built at the Grumman factory. When the US entered the war in 1941, Wildcats were the US Navy's main deck fighters, gradually replacing the older aircraft in the base squadrons. Wildcats were the only fighter protection for the US fleet. In the Pacific, the Wildcats' main opponents were the Japanese Mitsubishi A6M fighters, popularly known as "Zeros".

The COBI-designed aircraft was given the historic colours of the pilot who became the American Navy's first fighter ace! Particularly noteworthy are historical details such as the emblem with Felix the cat and the victory number placed next to the cockpit.

The 1:32 scale aircraft was released under licence from the Northrop Grumman aviation company! It has a movable propeller, ailerons and rotating wheels with rubber tyres. The cockpit can be opened to place a heroic pilot figure at the controls. The aircraft has been covered with high quality prints that will not wear out even with intensive use. Stickers are completely omitted from this set. The prints reflect the historical markings and equipment of the aircraft from the time of the Pacific War.

The set also includes a special stand that makes the display of the model more attractive and a plate with the name of the aircraft. The aircraft is also a perfect addition to the Historical Collection and a perfect pair for the Mitsubishi A6m2 "ZERO-SEN" set that has already been released.
