Product Description

The BAe Hawk T1 is a British trainer aircraft that is also used as a light fighter. It has served in the RAF from 1976 to the present day. A total of about 1,000 examples were produced, which found their buyers in the air forces of 18 countries. An interesting fact is that the US Navy uses a special version of this aircraft (T-45) for training purposes, e.g. to be operated from the decks of aircraft carriers.

The BAe Hawk T1 aircraft was constructed in 1/48 scale from 362 elements and has a wingspan of 19.5 cm! The model offers access to the hinged cockpit and has rotating wheels that can optionally be removed to be displayed on a stand to be built. Durable printing has been used to reproduce the details of the aircraft designed in RAF colours. The set includes simplified replacement pilot figures that can be placed in the cockpit. The set includes a sign with the name of the model and a presentation stand. The set completes the collection of aircraft released as part of the Armed Forces series and is intended for aviation enthusiasts, military technology enthusiasts and lovers of the highest quality block models!
