Product Description

Avalon Hill's strategy game Risk Shadow Forces pits modern factions against each other based on military blocs inside and outside the grid, the establishment and the underground. Players choose a warlord and play through a 15-game campaign in which tension and intrigue build to a dramatic finale. The game includes 5 miniature figures and game maps for the world map and battle games.

Also included in this Legacy board game are 4 sealed envelopes and a sealed container that are opened during play as players determine how their world unfolds. Here, two games will never be the same as friends come together for a thrilling power struggle in this addictive board game.

Caution. Not suitable for children under 36 months.

- Age: from 13 years
- Number: for 3-5 players
