Product Description

The floor model is a replica of a Tornado GR. 1 RAG. The multi-role Tornado is a twin-engine combat aircraft with a variable-range wing. This type of aircraft is the result of a joint development project between British, German and Italian companies. Although it has been used for various purposes during its lifetime (ground attack, electronic combat / reconnaissance, interceptor), its main mission has always been to carry out penetrating strike missions at low altitudes. Tornado can load and deploy powerful and varied offensive weapons. The Tornado baptism of fire took place in 1991 during the Gulf War. The British Royal Air Force Tornado Gr. 1s, deployed in Bahrain and Saudi Arabia bases were decisive during "Operation Granby".
