Product Description

The AH-64D Longbow Apache is the most advanced, versatile and weaponised attack helicopter in the world today. This modernised version of the Apache was used to great effect by the US Army in the Gulf Wars of 1991 and 2003. The long-range radar can be used for self-protection, but is also capable of accurately detecting up to 1000 potential targets and identifying 128 opponents, as well as automatically prioritising the attack mode of up to 16 Hellfire guided weapons.
