Background information: The Trabant 601S was the third and most built model of the Trabant small car series produced in the GDR. The Trabant was the most widely used vehicle in the GDR and an important part of the East German automotive industry. After the reunification of Germany, the Trabant 601S became a symbol for overcoming division and unifying Germany. Today, the Trabant 601S is considered a cult car and is prized by many collectors and enthusiasts. The Builder's Choice kit allows everyone to recreate a piece of this history at home.
