Product Description

Peng peng, he shot me down peng peng... The "Wolf-01 Pistol" from brand manufacturer UGEARS® is many things, but certainly not a children's toy. The handgun, which is nevertheless full of play and fun, is a product of innovative creativity and technical expertise for detailed mechanics on a small scale. The pistol itself is around 23 centimetres long and has an extendable magazine. Like all UGEARS® models, this one is made from sustainable wood and assembled in individual parts. This kit puzzle consists of a total of 63 individual parts, the perfection of which is reminiscent of the steampunk style. The postmodern still life is therefore much more than just mechanics, but an art object with a background. The retro-futuristic design allows a look behind the curtain and exposes the mechanics inside. This makes the "Wolf-01 Pistol" suitable as a gift for modelling enthusiasts as well as for collectors of high-quality technology and objects interested in art. The detailed replica of mechanical handguns is not only capable of firing 5 shots in succession, but can also place rubber bands accurately and precisely. This means that nothing stands in the way of peaceful shooting fun.
