Product Description

Peterbilt has been regarded as the leading manufacturer of high quality heavy-duty trucks in the USA since its foundation in 1939. All Peterbilts are built with the same commitment to quality inside and out. The highly adaptable 359 Conventional, designed for overland transport, is available in two different lengths. The 359-13 has a fiberglass bumper and bonnet, while the 359-19 has metal. The Peterbilt 359 "Bull Nose" is a typical American truck with a powerful engine and many chrome parts. Due to its focus on high performance trucks with low maintenance requirements and very high durability, Peterbilt maintains its outstanding position in the USA also thanks to the 359 Conventional. This ultimately means low operating costs, efficient operation and high value retention.
