Product Description

The best-known Sd.Kfz.250/3 was used by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, the Desert Fox, during operations in North Africa. He christened his vehicle "Greif", which translates as "griffin". In fact, the "Greif" had an Sd.Kfz.250/Z armoured superstructure with unique features such as a viewing hatch in the rear door and a different overhanging shape at the rear. This latest Dragon kit now offers exactly these components to build the half-track superstructure of the Desert Fox. As this is a 2-in-1 kit, the modeller can also build a regular Sd.Kfz.250/3 command half-tank. The kit is based on Dragon's most improved Sd.Kfz.250 Smart Kit version, but now modellers can build an Sd.Kfz.250/3 to the very latest contemporary standards, as well as a "Greif" for desert operations.
