Product Description

As a mole, try to outsmart your opponent in the two-player game 'Mole in one' and always think one step ahead. The fox tries to guess where the mole is and catch him with his fox jump. Mole in one is an exciting and tactical hide-and-see game for a fox and a mole. Play it yourself or send it as a postcard. Mole: "Oops! I can dig and build wherever I want, because you won't catch me after all!" Fox: "We'll see which of us is the cleverer!" Mole-in-One is an exciting bluffing game for 2 people. One person plays the fox, the other the mole. The mole can only score points by skilfully digging the tunnels. But if the clever fox catches him, the game is over. What do you need? Our motto for the postcard games: Anything can be a token! #Conserve resources. In addition to our postcard, you will need: 1 piece of paper and 1 pen + a game piece for the fox (e.g. pebble, coin, etc.) And how does it work? The mole digs its tunnels underground and moves secretly to one of its molehills. However, it only gets points (number on the molehill) if it shows itself and waves briefly to the fox. But don't be too cocky as a mole, because the fox will try to track you down. Where do you think the mole is? Is it under a hill with lots of dots or somewhere else entirely? Who is the best trickster and bluffer? If the mole is caught by the fox, the game ends and you switch roles. It's best to play 3 games at once and try out different strategies.
