Product Description

Crossing the finish line with Lancia Martini Racing The Lancia Beta Montecarlo Turbo is an old-school racing car that Lancia used for its resumed racing competition in 1980 after an eight-year break from motorsport. Over the next few years, the vehicle established itself as a dominant factor. The legendary race in Daytona was won by Team Martini Racing in 1981. Old-timer action for the home The Carrera DIGITAL 132 Lancia Beta Montecarlo Turbo "Lancia Martini Racing, No.3", Daytona 1981 brings a legend of classic racing to the home racetrack. On a scale of 1:32, the vehicle demonstrates why it is so popular on the big race track. In addition to its unique white, blue and red paintwork, the Lancia Beta Montecarlo Turbo has fully functional front, rear and brake lights. The slot car can be individually coded, has digital controls and guarantees many hours of driving fun.
