Product Description

US dream car meets German tuning artThe German offshoot of US Corvette tuner Callaway develops and builds its vehicles in Leingarten near Heilbronn. Callaway Competition is the only team to have taken part in every race since the GT Masters was founded and has already won the drivers' and team championships twice. With the Chevrolet Corvette C7 GT3-R, the team led by German driver Marvin Kirchhöfer and Swiss driver Jeffrey Schmidt achieved 10th place in 2021.Motorsport for at homeThe 1:32 scale Chevrolet Corvette C7 GT3-R "Callaway Competition, No.77" also invites you to enjoy exciting races around the fast bends of the Carrera racetrack at home. The car, which can be individually coded and thus directly customised to the driver's abilities, is in no way inferior to the big original in terms of racing power. Front, rear and brake lights make the driving experience perfect.
