Product Description

The two dwarves have to make a decision: Do they build a tunnel together or do they go it alone? Either way, it is important to sabotage the opponent at the right moment. Only then will the gold end up in your own pocket. And if there is no other player, one dwarf tries to collect as many gold pieces as possible in three rounds in a solo game. Saboteur - The Duel: the challenge for 1 or 2 dwarves! How to play Saboteur - The Duel :- Both players try to get from their starting cards to the target cards with the gold. - On their turn, a player either places a new path card in the tunnel, plays an action card or discards cards from their hand. - In the tunnel, doors and trolls block the way and must be unlocked or bribed. - Action cards can be used to sabotage the other player, remove a sabotage card, view target cards or remove path cards. - The round ends when all target cards have been played. The round ends when all target cards have been reached, all dwarf markers have been used or the draw pile has been used up and all cards in hand have been played. - At the end of the round, the players collect the gold cards they have reached and pay the trolls they have bribed. - The player who has collected the most gold after three rounds wins the game.
