Product Description

In the third edition, a team of fearless investigators once again stand in the way of the "Great Old Ones" to save our world from their reign of terror. The further development of the classic board game comes with some significant new features, as well as new game material. Just like the game developers, we have also further developed our foam set for "Arkham Horror 3rd Edition". This allows you to concentrate fully on your investigations in the game and not have to search for lost markers or cards. The foam insert is divided into 1 large compartment for the foam insert and 7 additional compartments for storing the game components. The large compartment contains the additional foam insert with 15 compartments for sorting the markers, dice and for the feet. The insert has a base. You can therefore remove it separately and place the box and its contents next to the game board. All markers, except for the anomaly and investigator markers, can be neatly organised here. One compartment is used for the dice and the corner compartment is reserved for the feet. There is also space on the 40 mm high insert for the 12 game board pieces, which fit in here exactly. The event card holder in individual parts and the scenario and investigator sheets can also be stored here. There are a total of 5 compartments for the game cards on the large insert. They are provided with finger-wide recesses that make it easier for you to remove the stacks. 3 card compartments provide space for the large cards, such as the event and anomaly cards. Two compartments are reserved for the smaller cards, such as monster and condition cards. Of course, all cards also fit in here with sleeves. Two compartments remain in which you can sort the investigator markers and the five anomaly markers. The set for "Arkham Horror 3rd Edition" is rounded off with the matching foam cover. This keeps everything in its place, even if the box is turned upside down during transport. You can place the game instructions on the foam cover. This keeps everything neatly and securely stowed away so that no money tokens get lost. Cards and markers are quickly to hand and you save a lot of time and nerves when setting up the game.
