Product Description

The PzKpfw V Panther is a German tank from the Second World War. To this day, it is one of the most famous German tanks. Panthers were put into service in 1943. They passed their baptism of fire during the Battle of Kursk, where they were plagued by numerous failures. The elimination of shortcomings showed the strengths of this tank. It quickly became apparent that the Panthers dominated the Soviet T-34s and the American Shermans. Thick armour, advanced construction, high accuracy and one of the best guns of World War II (KwK 42 L / 70) made the Panther an extremely dangerous and effective weapon that commanded respect until the end of the war!

The building block Panther has been faithfully reproduced in 1:48 scale. It has movable elements such as: Turret and cannon barrel as well as rotating wheels and chains. The advantage of the set consisting of 298 elements is a solid construction that faithfully reproduces the original forms of its historical prototype. The miniature tank has been covered with high-quality prints that do not rub off. The Panther completes COBI's range of 1/48th scale miniature tanks that will fit into any military history and engineering fan's collection, built from COBI Polish bricks.
