Product Description

Foam insert for neat and safe storage of the 40 plastic figures in the original base game box. Terrinoth is on the brink of destruction and the rulers are too busy debating to protect the realm from the demonic hordes. So heroes are needed more than ever. To ensure that Brynn, Galaden, Syrus, Vaerix, Chance and Kehli are ready for battle and can hold their own against monsters that still have all their claws and wings, you get the matching Feldherr foam set here to protect the detailed miniatures. Place the two Feldherr foam inserts in the cardboard insert of the lower box. Each miniature is individually supplied here. From the dwarf heroine Kehli to the Specter and the gigantic half-dragon Centurion, all hero and opponent models have a customised compartment. The customised cut helps with sorting and also ensures that nothing slips around during transport. The intricate details of the miniatures are thus reliably protected from damage. If you have painted your models, you can be sure that the colours are still intact even after transport. Both foam inserts have a free compartment in which you can store game material such as dice and markers. A plastic organiser (ORG087) for sorting and storing the terrain pieces and small game material is available separately or in a bundle with this foam set (ORG092).
