Product Description

Two-piece set for the safe storage of an Archaon Everchosen model - With 9 compartments for further miniatures. His enemies call him the Dark Beast, to the Chaos forces he is the Black Saviour and the Eternal Chosen. Under his banner, Archaon gathers the armies of Chaos and leads them united and relentless against the forces of Order. In this model, Games Workshop immortalises the full grandeur and glory of the Grand Marshal of the Apocalypse. And to ensure that this monumental figure arrives at the gaming table in untarnished splendour, we have the two-part Feldherr foam set to protect your miniature. The large compartment is precisely tailored to the Archaon model. The precise cut ensures that the miniature remains securely in place surrounded by foam during transport and does not slide around. This not only reliably protects the many intricate details from damage. It also protects the figure, which has been painted over hours or weeks of painstaking work, from scratches, chipping paint or abrasion. In addition to the Black Redeemer, there are nine compartments of different sizes in which you can store other miniatures from your apocalyptic army. We have divided the insert into two parts to make it easier for you to access the smaller miniatures and lift out the large model just as easily. Place the upper part on top to protect the rest of the figure.
