Product Description

The KTM X-BOW GTX offers numerous new technical highlights, improved ergonomics and operability and a revolutionary safety standard. With this car, victory seems pre-programmed - yet the Czech Marek Rybníček had to forgo a race at the European Hillclimb Championship in Sternberk in his KTM X-BOW GTX "Liqui Moly, No.104" following a controversial decision by the FIA. On the Carrera racetrack at home, nothing stands in the way of a race with the KTM X-BOW GTX "Liqui Moly, No.104" - how well the car masters the track depends solely on your skills with the hand controller. The vehicle can also be converted to digital using a separate digital decode and offers unmistakable driving fun for young and old. Thanks to the advanced and beginner modes, the vehicle can be customised to suit personal driving skills.
