Product Description

Have you ever been really ripped off? And, is it still gnawing at you? If so, you should think carefully about how you deal with your anger. It's probably best to turn your anger into something positive. For example, you could slip into a Vengeance character and really let off steam. This will not only save you money on a therapist, but you'll also have lots of fun with your friends. Incidentally, the whole thing is even more fun if you have your characters to hand at all times. And that's exactly where Feldherr comes into play. With our foam set for Vengeance, you can store all the components of the basic game neatly and safely. The set consists of three stackable, high-quality foam inserts that fit exactly into the original board game box. Two inlays each have 36 customised compartments that can hold up to 60 miniatures as well as dice, markers, tokens, the 3-minute timer and other accessories. The third insert with 25 customised compartments can be filled with sleeved cards, dice and other miniatures. There is also a foam lid to protect the game components in the top tray.
