Product Description

The co-operative board game Village Attacks contains lots of game material - dozens of miniatures, dice, cards and markers are longing to be stored properly. If you also own the Horrors of the Sands expansion in addition to the basic game, it is all the more important to keep the game materials well organised. Our foam set allows you to do just that! In the two inlays for the miniatures, your heroes and monsters each have their own compartments - this prevents the miniatures from sliding around and practically eliminates damage. Filigree parts are preserved, applied colour remains intact. The inlay for the accessories has 18 compartments. 6 compartments are for (sleeved) cards, the other compartments provide space for dice and tokens. A matching foam lid completes the set. This ensures that nothing can fall out of the top tray. The larger game components - the game board components, character sheets, the game overview board and the rulebook - are either placed under the foam set in the game box or on top of the foam set.
