This means that your 121 miniatures, your cards and all the game material are perfectly protected and clearly organised. Whether it's an ageing Logan or oversized Sentinels, each figure has its own compartment. Thanks to the customised cut, the figures stay in place during transport through the most famous comic locations. The soft foam protects against damage just as reliably as a steel embrace from Colossus. If you paint your figures, you can also make sure that the colours are protected from scratches and abrasion. You can sort your small game material such as tokens, trackers and the coloured base rings into the free compartments of the foam inserts. We have packed three Feldherr card boxes in the storage boxes for your playing cards and the small tableaus. Here you can store your cards neatly and organise them according to your preferences. Each card box can hold up to 1600 cards without protective sleeves and approx. 900 cards with protective sleeves (tested with premium card sleeves from GameGenic and Ultra Pro). Finally, secure the top inserts with the foam covers supplied. This prevents a figure from falling off or hitting the lid of the storage box during transport.
