Product Description

The Great Fratricidal War is raging. It is the Age of Darkness and the landscape of ruins is lit only by the guns of the armies. Gigantic god machines clash and lay entire planets in ruins. Decide which side you want to fight on - loyalists or traitors - and lead your Titan legion into battle. Whichever side you choose, with our large storage box set your Titans are safely stored and ready for the next battle wherever you are. Here, every single model gets the attention it deserves. Namely its own compartment, tailored precisely to the miniature. This ensures that the energy fist, turbolaser annihilators and apocalypse missile launchers are ready for use in the future. The fact that the figures are stored in individual compartments and the soft foam ensure that the miniatures are optimally protected from damage during transport and that the colours of coloured models are preserved. A third insert is divided into 25 compartments of equal size. These are particularly suitable for storing additional Questoris Knights. Of course, it can also be used for other appropriately sized miniatures or game material. Each of the 25 compartments is 54 mm long x 41 mm wide x 40 mm deep. Last but not least, the storage box comes with a 30 mm high grid foam insert plus a matching 10 mm foam base. This can be easily customised to your needs. More miniatures, buildings or game material - with the pre-punched 14 mm x 14 mm grid, you can design your own customised insert with 30 mm deep compartments. The supplied base can be attached to the self-adhesive underside of the foam cube insert without any additional tools. Finally, a foam lid ensures that the miniatures in the upper mat are also wrapped in foam all around and do not bump against the lid of the storage box during transport. The FSLB310 storage box is made of coated, double-wall cardboard and is therefore very light and also very sturdy. The attachable lid reliably protects your Titans from dust and other external influences. With the two plastic-reinforced carrying handles on the sides, you can easily transport the Adeptus Titanicus box to the next battle.
