Product Description

A beautiful design inspired by history! In the early 16th century, Leonardo DaVinci illustrated "La Divina proportione" (literally: "The Divine Proportion") - a book written by the mathematician Luca Pacioli that described a mathematical theory used in Renaissance paintings and sculptures to achieve balance and beauty. Da Vinci later called this "aurea" or the "golden ratio".

The card fronts as well as the individual back of Bicycle® "Aureo" feature unique designs inspired by Renaissance art and the golden ratio.

The gold foil and the exclusive attractive swirl designs on the packaging bring the Golden Section to life in this unique card game.
